NORWAY AND VICINITY

Mrs. Walter Demick and daughter Dorothy of Portland are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Murch. George A. Brooks says that two inches of rain fell in the heavy shower Monday which lasted less than an hour.
Freeman C. Smith is the contractor putting in the new concrete sidewalk on Commercial street. The walk will be four feet wide and 2136 feet long, making 8712 yards to be laid from Main to present street. In grading several lanes which abut the street, an improvement has been made onto the town property and this must be cut back several feet to square with the street line.
Leon E. Cash, district leader, who has charge of the 15 boys in this vicinity sent to the farmers by the State under the Maine 1923 boys engaged against about the last season. They will be kept on the job until October. At present the demand is greater than the supply.
A pleasing compliment was given the people of Norway and South Paris by Caroline Towne of the Community Chautauqua, who arrived a few days in advance to assist the local committee in their splendid work. She pronounced the local committee one of the best organized and best working committees she has found anywhere in her work this summer from South Carolina to Maine.
How is the two autos lined up on Main street Monday evening, one a "one-man" roadster, the other an imposing touring car and both displayed the same license numbers 30-801 Maine registration. What's the answer?
Emily E. Davis, who has been with Mrs. G. F. Stone several weeks, is visiting at Bethel, the guest of Mrs. Abbie Bean. Bethel is Miss Davis' native town and she spends several weeks every summer calling upon acquaintances.
Mrs. Elmer Morrill and daughter, Margaret Louise, are at G. F. Stone's this week attending Chautauqua.

Deputy Sheriff Harry O. Stinson was in Augusta Monday and in company with Sheriff Harry Cole, committed Frank Moore to the insane hospital. Moore had been living at North Waterford several weeks with his mother and becoming violent, was placed in custody at the county jail. He attacked turnkey Ernest F. Shaw with a jackknife Sunday, inflicting minor injuries.
Dr. Eugene Fifield has been in this vicinity during the past week calling upon acquaintances. Dr. Fifield studied medicine with Dr. French in Norway some sixteen years ago while employed as cutter in B. F. Spinney & Co. factory. He graduated from a medical school in Maryland and has had a successful practice since. It is understood that he will settle at South Paris, with an office in the Maxim Block.
Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Richardson and son Maurice and daughter Marion of Leominster, Mass., were week end guests of Mrs. Richardson's uncle, Edward E. Witt and family. Mrs. Richardson's son, Mr. Richardson was formerly Rachael Brown of Norway. The son Maurice is in the service and was enjoying a 72 hour leave of absence from the Naval Base at New London, Conn. on an auto trip through this part of the country. Miss Florence Foster Robbins accompanied them.

Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn, Mrs. Osgood and Walter C. Smith went to Meredith Center for a few weeks. Mabel remained and will spend the rest of the summer with R. S. Osgood.
An important rehearsal for "The Lost Necklace" will be held Friday night and it is hoped all the members of the cast will be present.
Signing another person's name to a letter without proper authority is not a letter and is liable to cause an offending party trouble. This has been done recently and the matter is being investigated. A lady in town received a letter apparently from another lady with whom she has made an acquaintance requesting her to assist making her letter. The writer's handwriting, supposed she sent it but found out on inquiry that it was not the other's writing at all and that she knew nothing about the mischievous letter. The matter is to be looked into and it is understood there is a heavy penalty for a person who signs another's name in this way.
Lawrence M. Carroll of the Carroll, Jellerson Shoe Co. returned Saturday evening from Haverhill, accompanied by eight experienced shoe cutters, who are to help out on the new run just commenced, and which bids fair to be a record breaker.

ANNUAL COMMUNITY CHAUTAUQUA

Great Success Both Financially and Socially. Fine List of Entertainers and Lecturers Call Record Breaking Crowds at every Session.

The Community Chautauqua opened officially their third season here on the fair grounds, Sunday afternoon, July 21. The outfit arrived late Saturday afternoon, and under the management of A. T. Powell, assisted by his helpers, H. G. Sholes and A. H. Fellenbaum, with the help of a small American youth army had the big top up before dark.

Miss Morris, the supervisor of the play ground, assembled the children after supper Saturday and started a ticket hunt, which caused great merriment. They also played games until dark.
The Fisher Ship Concert Company with Dr. Joseph Clare of London, opened the Chautauqua, Sunday afternoon. Hot weather failed to detract and the largest opening attendance greeted the players. Another large house was on hand in the evening, with an array of seventy autos parked along the sidewalks.
Probably a better selection could not have been made for the opening number. The Fisher Ship Co. are a musical and dramatic quartet headed by Miss Shipp as reader and lyric soprano soloist. Miss Swarthout followed as contralto soloist and accompanist. Miss Major, the violinist, proved acceptable and was without doubt a master of that instrument. Mr. Leor, introduced as a mandolinist with an international reputation and a "mere man," made good in both programs. He used the cello and the mandolin, a ten string tenor instrument with great skill. Their program at both sessions were in keeping with the day, and so modified their real merit as novelty artists and entertainers could not fully be shown.
Dr. Joseph Clare's lecture, "The Ride of the Russian Revolution," both afternoon and evening was a revelation and must have left the meeting with a new and better understanding of this peculiar situation. Dr. Clare had been pastor of the British-American Congregational church in Petrograd during the last five years and had been raising his family to London, England, last May because of the limited food supply. He enjoyed the personal friendship of many Russian personages and witnessed the great revolution which caused a mighty upheaval throughout the Empire. The speaker gave a vivid description of cold blooded intrigue, deception and treachery which involved Rasputin, the Bolsheviks and German agents.
Wit and humor were clearly brought out at intervals, which held the closest attention of the largest audience. With out question Dr. Clare's visit in this vicinity will be held in happy remembrance a long time.
Despite the heat with the temperature 86 degrees in the shade a large crowd gathered Monday afternoon when Ernest Winters and Alice Stire Winters gave a delightful entertainment including piano monologues, character sketches and the wonderful whistling specialties. J. Franklin Caveny, the famous platform comedian and lecturer, was the exponent of art in America. His rapid crayon sketches and mystifying transformations on the easel were delightful. The artist carried along a rapid fire line of witticisms which were apt and pointed. A rhymed song produced with great ease and blended production. His quickly executed busts in clay representing a striking likeness of prominent famous characters as the American Indian, Shakespeare, Lincoln and Uncle Sam stamped the artist to be one with skill and unusual ability.
The big tent was crowded in the evening and a splendid novelty entertainment by Mr. and Mrs. Winters offered a strong program just saturated with patriotism so near to the heart of every true blue American. Mrs. Winters' whistling solo, "Birds of the Forest," with imitations so true to nature as to deceive even the actual feathered songsters. Mrs. Winters offering in readings and snappy piano monologues were varied from the ridiculous to the serious, all were enthusiastic with his work.
Albert E. Wiggam of Indiana delivered an informal heart to heart talk, "The Life of Our Boys in France," was from personal observations gathered in France. He spent several months at the western front, being sent on this special mission by the Community Chautauqua management to investigate and bring back to America the fruits of his journey. The speaker has been a reporter and newspaper man, therefore qualified by training and a natural talent for "news" to absorb facts so interesting to nearly every family in our country today. He gave graphic word pictures of the air raids and shelling from the long range guns upon. Good Friday when 75 warships were killed in the church while at prayers.
The magnificent work of the Red Cross was brought out vividly as never before to a local audience. Her experiences in an air ship some 11,000 feet above the earth with a French Ace were humorously and entertainingly told.
Many curios were exhibited and explained in detail. They included parts of the first airship used by the U. S. for night flying, bomb proof mask, barbed wire from a German entanglement cut at night by an American soldier close to the enemy's trenches and many more interesting souvenirs. Perhaps the most interesting being a life saving submarine suit made of rubber which could be readily drawn over the head and neck, and completely, except the head and nose, sinkable in water. The inventor had had his, its inventor lived in the west, and never seen the ocean. To conduct experiments, he was compelled to build an artificial pond for this purpose of trying it out.
Large audiences were the rule again Tuesday. Apparently the rains gave a tidal wave to keep people home in a shady corner.

The Tuesday evening performance drew a capacity house and the Hawaiian players were greeted at this second appearance with enthusiasm. They worked in native costume and sang selections from the opera "Bird of Paradise." Pleasing specialties including their home land music and American airs were introduced. Their manager, George W. Vierra of Honolulu in a closing speech brought greetings from Hawaii. He was in no uncertain manner expressed the strong feeling which binds his people so strongly to America. His country bought $75,000 worth of Liberty bonds in the first drive and $35,000 in the second. Ten thousand young men left college and business at the call for volunteers. Thousands are fighting today overseas along side their elder brothers from the states. The company were given a rousing encore after finishing their last number. They responded graciously and appeared highly pleased with this mark of appreciation.
The Tuesday evening program closed with Ralph Parlette in "The University of Hard Knocks." Mr. Parlette is one of the greatest men on the American platform. His original, his unique, his educated and a happy way of using common things to illustrate a subject is one of his greatest assets. We learned that every person gets his knocks in life. Some receive a knock but once, others fall against many in the same place. That there are needless knocks and bumps which are necessary in the great college of practical experience were facts clearly demonstrated.
His "third chapter" mysteriously hidden in the black bag until the climactic moment, proved with a simple device that the big fellow rises and the little "runt" remains in the cellar. This glass jar contained nuts, rice and grain. When shaken it proved his assertion that as the large heavy object never failed to reach the top, and the small light grains went to the bottom of the jar, because gravitation so ordained it, even so is this in every day life.
The hard knock organization sails only under the colors, black and blue. Any man who carried this emblem is a winner.
A sculptor knocks away on a rough piece of marble until the angel within the crude block stands before us a perfect work of art. Experience is hammering large chunks from man until character and ability stand forth as the completed angel, in beauty and symmetry. The Mississippi river is only a tiny stream as it travels south from its source. It gathers volume and force from the surrounding watershed in its journey toward the gulf. Many polluted brooks flow in as it continues its way, but the mighty river purifies and carries along the best. So long as the body flows south it gathers momentum. Should it turn back, it starts in another direction only a stagnant pool. A man who is not a winner is not a winner. I received your very welcome and useful box in May. I had just returned from the trenches and that package with four letters, is all I have received since March 30. I am very glad to hear that you are well. I really intended to thank you for it before, but I really have been very busy. In fact I am still busy, but have some time to write a bit. I wish you folks would send me some of the things that you have in that package. I did not know that there were so many people in Norway who seemed interested in my welfare over here. It does make a fellow feel good to realize that there are so many folks back here in his fight against the Hun, and especially folks one hasn't seen for a long time. I didn't know so many people in Norway would remember me because it was a long time that I was with them. So you can see that I was real pleased with everything I received and I would like to thank each one separately, but I am afraid I cannot express my appreciation to you all. At least, I can thank you very much for your thoughtfulness.
At this season of the year one is reminded strongly of the New England States. This is certainly "Sunny France" now, even if we did have doubts that it last fall and winter. The days are real warm and sunny, white nights are very cool indeed. The fields are green and crops will be plentiful. Uncle Frank, you should use the same methods in farming the people over here employ. It is certainly strange to see the large horses hitched to a plow in a string one behind the other, or an ox between two horses and another sight that is strange to us Americans is to see the women doing the work of men—farming, hatching, and such work done by men in our country. And they have a fine way of cooking a chicken. Aunt Emma. They don't bother to bleed them at all. One is just as likely to spear a chicken's head in a stew as any other part of its body.

Soldiers' Letters

The following are extracts from letters written by 1st Lieut. George R. Knight, of the 1st Infantry, France last September. He is the son of the late George M. Knight of Waterford and is in 2nd Regiment of Engineers. These letters were written to his mother and sisters and are offered for publication at the request of friends of the family.

France, May 28th.
I was very much pleased the other day to hear from you in the form of two letters dated March 25th and May 1st and also in the form of a box containing candy and tobacco. The candy disappeared at once and the tobacco is gradually following in the steps of the candy. I understand no more packages whatever can be sent us, which I think is right. When I see the bags of second class mail matter which comes into our organization, I realize it takes a good deal of space in the ships which can be better used for supplies. Thank you and Miss Godfrey for the box above referred to.

The Y. M. C. A. I think will be able to take care of us as far as tobacco is concerned as well as candy. I judge the same Y. M. C. A. units are always attached to the same organization. When our division moves, they move too. No matter if another division is coming right in. We therefore don't know them quite well. For your information, will say a division is the smallest complete organization in the army. That is, it comprises all arms of the service and can act independently of any one else. It is commanded by Major General. The strength of our division is about 30,000 men. A corps consists of 4 combatant divisions besides a replacement division and a depot division farther to the rear. An army now I believe will consist of 3 corps which is a fairly large number of men, roughly about 500,000.

The last few days we have been well back from the front. I am still acting adjutant for how long I don't know. On horseback in maneuvers. I am not much of a horseback rider, but I manage to stick on. We are very busy, there is no loafing in the army, when we are not working, we drill.

France, June 10.
The area we are now in has been evacuated by the French for three weeks and take it from me, it is some lonesome lonely place. There is absolutely no civil population within. I don't know how many kilometers, but it is several. I had occasion the other day to make a survey of a village of 1,000 people in peace time. Was looking for material for dugout, wire entanglements, etc. The people had left in a hurry evidently for in many cases the dinner dishes were still on the table where they had been eating. In the same village I entered a school room and found exercises on a blackboard as they were left when orders came for them to leave. There were two tame rabbits in the room and I caught one and played with it a while.

The other night I had a chance to watch a barrage from a point which gave me a wonderful birdseye view of the whole business. I had seen and heard many of them before but never from such a vantage point. There were a number of us at a farm house on the brow of a hill with a semi-circle of hills around us. There were batteries on hills to the right and left and in front of us, as well as a few behind us. They were all hammering away together, probably 200 guns in all. The flash of the guns alone made a fine spectacle, but beside out of the valley was coming the roar of bursting shells. The sound didn't rise and fall, but was perfectly steady like the sound of a big waterfall. Am thinking that the Hun didn't have time before. Am perfectly well. 1st Lieut. George R. Knight, 2nd Reg't. Engineers, American Expeditionary Forces.

A letter to F. P. Towne and wife from their nephew, Wm. Towne Hanley.
France, June 18, 1918.

Dear Folks:
First, I must apologize for any blotches that may appear on this paper or for any poor scribbles because of my sitting alone in a forest with my back against a tree and using my knees for a writing desk, so if my words seem scrawly or crooked, you may know that the Germans have been trying to knock me out of my comfortable position with their noisy, expensive pressure. So excuse for this apology.

Another apology—I received your very welcome and useful box in May. I had just returned from the trenches and that package with four letters, is all I have received since March 30. I am very glad to hear that you are well. I really intended to thank you for it before, but I really have been very busy. In fact I am still busy, but have some time to write a bit. I wish you folks would send me some of the things that you have in that package. I did not know that there were so many people in Norway who seemed interested in my welfare over here. So you can see that I was real pleased with everything I received and I would like to thank each one separately, but I am afraid I cannot express my appreciation to you all. At least, I can thank you very much for your thoughtfulness.

Making Room Got Revenge

After a long period trying to win a game from Vancouver's latters, the making room at last brought up their reserves and defeated their enemies at the fair grounds Saturday afternoon. The makers won with the score 22 to 7.
This was a contest in the Cobblers' League and much interest centered in the battle owing to Henry's outfit claiming themselves fire proof against anything Fred Buck could find in his room. The battle waged hot and fierce. Henry presided in the pitcher's box until Fred's warriors got his range, then explosions were noted by observers along the flanks. The tasing fighters were unable to hold position gained on their previous drives because of the heavy barrage which the makers laid down in the first assault. Descoeteau replaced General Vancouver but this failed to improve their morale. It was one long bombardment from start to finish with the latters fighting under terrible fire.
Returning to baseball language it was a weird game. Every maker scored one to four runs, only five latters were able to tally against Wing's twirling. The makers' defense showed their battling averages as never before, securing 15 hits against 9 of their opponents.
Fred Allen and Walter Poindeux were the long suffering umpires who had little to do except watch the ball and keep among the fielders.
The makers who won glory and scores on the gory field were Win Allen 4, Lever 4, Ripley 1, Davis 3, Bartlett 1, Payne 3, Wing 1, Buck 2, Sargent 3.
Few and far between were the fortunate ones for the latters, they were Ledger 1, Vancouver 1, Rice 2, Woodworth 2 and Bemier 1.

Young Men Show Real Patriotism

Mr. and Mrs. Z. L. Merchant are justly proud of their five nephews, who enlisted early in the war when Uncle Sam called for volunteers. They came forward and offered their technical experience as a token of fidelity to the country. They are:
Clayton Merchant Boudette, chief Radio officer in the Navy. He was a government electrician in the Macon Radio work and exempted from military duty. A resignation was accepted, so he volunteered. This young man has been a genius from an early age and constructed a practical wireless outfit before reaching his teens. He paints skillfully and is an accomplished musician. Laurice Boudette, the wonderful youthful pianist who gave a recital in Everett, Mass. recently, is his brother.
Two nephews enlisted in the Engineering Corps, Cornelius Boudette and William Banazan. Another boy, George Savory, after weeks of intensive training at Fort Ethan Allen, is in France with the American Expeditionary Forces as an Infantryman. Elmer O. Bond of Buffalo, N. Y. is a draughtsman and pattern maker in the U. S. Army. He is no stranger in the service, having served several years with a Marine Band and made the trip around the world on Admiral Dewey's flagship with the navy.
With these sturdy sons of Uncle Sam coming forward voluntarily to give their country the best talents, it is not natural that Mr. and Mrs. Merchant should feel proud to give these facts to their Oxford County acquaintances?

Entertainment Pest

Did you ever attend an entertainment or concert or sit beside the "entertainment pest?" If you did, and you probably have, you will know how to appreciate it. Here the other night it fell to the lot of a group of people to sit beside a woman at the Chautauqua concert who seemed to think she and her friend were all there were present and a photograph with the soft needle wasn't in it. People around them for a radius of twenty feet or more had their "buzz" as an accompaniment to the evening which was going on for the everything until the last half of the last number when they left.
It seems strange a person can not understand that people go to a concert or lecture to hear the concert or lecturer and that a constant tongue wagging through the whole affair by some one who apparently had rather hear their own voice than that of the entertainers is decidedly disagreeable. If you don't believe it, get beside a talking machine of this kind some time and see for yourself.

Norway Grange

Children's Day, will be the principle feature of the next meeting at 1:30 p. m. The refreshment committee are W. S. Pierce, Viola Abbott and Emma Swan.
Alice Walsh is spending two weeks at her home in Portland.
The Royal Order of Moose, No. 1614, conferred the degree on two candidates Friday evening. Several out of town visitors were present.
Harry E. Maule of New York, who is associated with the Short Stories magazine, is a guest at Lakeside Inn. This is his first trip to Norway.
George W. Horne of Lewiston, who went to Boston to undergo a physical examination at the Boston city hospital, is pronounced to be in a very favorable condition. No symptoms of a malignant nature were revealed. Mr. Horne has been in poor health for a time. His nephew is a member of the staff of the Boston city hospital, and Mr. Horne is with him. Mrs. Horne, who went to Boston with her husband, is staying for a time with Mrs. W. A. Briggs of North Weymouth, Mass.

The Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist Church will hold a sociable at Concert Hall, Thursday evening, August 1st, for the benefit of the Red Cross. A musical program will be given followed by a social.
Norway Lodge of Moose at their last regular meeting took 2 new members into the order. A few out of town members were going Sunday to help Brother How and Knightly, who is a little back on his work as he has been sick a long time, but for good reasons the time has been changed to this Saturday afternoon. The fact that can will bring hoes, pitchfork and hand hay rake and all will leave Woodman Hall at ten minutes of one.
The Carrolites expect to play West Paris at the fair grounds Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This meeting will be a grand occasion where real baseball can be demonstrated.

SOUTH PARIS

Insane Man Stabbed Turnkey
Deputy Sheriff Ernest F. Shaw of South Paris was stabbed and slightly injured Sunday by an insane prisoner who was confined in the jail for safe keeping until arrangements could be made for his removal to the insane hospital. The struggle was short but exciting and the turnkey fortunately escaped serious injury.
The man who did the stabbing is Frank Moore, belonging in Rochester, N. Y., about 35 years of age, who with his mother has been stopping at North Waterford for a few weeks. He had showed signs of being unbalanced and finally became so violent in his actions and threats that on Saturday he was taken by Deputy Sheriff Shaw and confined in the jail pending his transfer to the hospital at Augusta.
When he put the man in jail Mr. Shaw searched him thoroughly, and found nothing dangerous. He was allowed to keep a tin of smoking tobacco, and it would seem that the pocket knife might have been concealed in this tin.
Sunday noon the prisoner became violent and noisy and smelted things about his cell. Deputy Shaw, who was in charge at the jail that day in the absence of Sheriff Cole, went into the cell to check the man's actions. As he stepped into the door Moore struck him on the left breast. The victim did not realize until afterward that he had been struck with anything but the man's fist, but succeeded in forcing the assailant back on the floor, and found the man had a pocket knife in his hand. With the help of another prisoner he was disarmed.
After the struggle Deputy Shaw discovered he had a wound in the chest, which was bleeding profusely. The knife struck the breast bone and only a superficial wound resulted. Deputy Shaw's only trouble is a laceration lower in the side, which may be caused by a strain or a cracked rib sustained in the scuffle.

James Jackson Committed Suicide
James Jackson of Island Pond, Vt., inflicted at least three cuts upon himself with a razor and butcher knife, Sunday forenoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Jackson of South Paris. He was taken to the hospital at Lewiston and died soon after his arrival.
With his wife Mr. Jackson came Saturday night to the home of his parents, after spending some days in Portland. Sunday morning in company with others of the family he went into the garden and picked some peaches and afterward got his brother's razor and a razor for himself. Some time later he was found in a serious condition with two cuts about the throat and a bad gash in the abdomen.
In answer to the inquiry why he had done the deed, he said that his head felt so bad that he couldn't stand it any longer.

Results That Remain

Are Appreciated by Norway People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Norway.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago and now makes his testimony even stronger.

M. M. Kilgore, Danforth St., Norway, says: "I had backache and rheumatic pains for more than a year, caused by disordered kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and I was so lame and sore across the small of my back I could hardly stand. At night I rested but little and was feeling miserable most of the time. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at F. P. Stone's Drug Store and a few boxes cured me." (Statement given July 24, 1908).

PERMANENT RESULTS

On June 7, 1916, Mr. Kilgore said: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills again as I am still a firm believer in them. The cure Doan's gave me has proven permanent."

LOVELL

The bride wore a white crepe de chene, and carried a large bouquet of rambler roses. Mrs. Grace Garland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and carried American Beauty roses. James Plummer, brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. F. B. Wiggins of South Paris, sister of the bride, played the wedding march from Longfellow.

A lunch was served previous to the ceremony, and light refreshments afterward. The bridal couple left for a short trip in an automobile decorated for the occasion, boundedly showered with rice and confetti. The bride's traveling suit was of blue.

Water Powers in Maine

A correspondent who owns no stock or bonds in any water power company, or in any form of electrical development, writes as follows:—

"I am reading all the articles published in the papers regarding the Water Power question. I have read the pamphlets published by Mr. Baxter and reports of his speeches and also the letters of various contributors in sympathy with the plan of purchasing and developing by the State the unused water powers.

I note that Mr. Baxter and others lay great stress upon the claim that the people of Maine have lost certain rights in the lakes and rivers they formerly possessed, and I have asked myself the question, "What is it that I have lost?"

I know that on any lake or river I am able to go and come for business or pleasure. I note that others do the same. Logs are driven on the streams and rivers, steamboats carrying freight and passengers navigate all the larger bodies of water, and I am informed that they pay no tribute to the owner of any dam or water power.

Were the people of the State ever able to use these waters in any different manner?

I also notice that while the communications referred to state that the people have lost or had taken away from them valuable rights and privileges, they do not state just what these rights and privileges are that have been taken away.

The public is interested in this question, and will watch the progress of the campaign for and against State ownership with discriminating judgement. The public desires all the progress and benefits that can be had from our natural resources, but the public will not accept mere statements without proof.

Both political conventions have concurred in demanding that the power developed in Maine shall be used in Maine, thereby expressing what both parties believe to be the desire of the people of the State. Both parties also demand a thorough investigation of all the facts concerning the Water Power question.

That is what the people want. In urging the question beyond that point the politicians are making a mistake that sooner or later will be apparent even to themselves."

DRAFT NOTES

Examinations for the 1918 class of registrants will be held at South Paris and Rumford this Thursday and Friday and at Fryeburg on the latter day. Many of those accepted will probably be called during August. In the first draft for that month Maine will furnish 100. It is expected a second call will be made in the same month, which will use all available men in the 1917 class and draw strong upon the later registrants.

Randall F. Sessions of Rumford was taken in individual induction and sent to Vancouver, Wash., Monday, to serve in the Spruce Production Division. This is the first limited service man inducted by the Oxford County local board.

Norman L. Jodrey of Bethel has been voluntarily inducted into the service as blacksmith, leaving for Camp Forrest, Lytle, Ga., on July 29.

A large crowd is expected to give the July quota to Camp Devens a rousing send-off at the South Paris station Friday morning at least by 9:15. One hundred and five draftees go out at this time.

AZISCOOS DAM

By Mrs. Sarah S. Bennett of Wilson's Mills

Aziscoos Falls has been the scene of many a tragedy and many a youth that was "Somebody's Boy" has met his death there.

When I was a child a woman, apparently demented, came in on the East side of the lake, (Umbugog) staying one night at Israel Linnell's and another at Lorenzo Lombard's. In the morning she went onto the Falls, in spite of all persuasions to the contrary. She did not come back, and the men of the neighborhood turned out to see what had become of her. It was in April and a light snow had fallen; they tracked her on the ice to open water and there the trail disappeared. No inquiry was ever made for her and none knew where she came from or who she was.

Parties of Indians used to camp there often because it was good fishing in the Falls. Here too, was the scene of the arrest of David Robbins, robber and murderer, by Lewis Loomis of Colebrook, who brought him down in irons.

It was counted a lucky drive in the spring when no lives were lost in Aziscoos Falls. Between 35 and 40 years ago, I do not remember the exact date, the Berlin Mills Company built a dam at the head of the Falls, after which accidents were less frequent, but even then each year had its toll of lives of one or more men.

The dam of today was built below the old dam, and it took the head engineer, Walter H. Sawyer of the firm of Moulton & Sawyer, seven years to locate a suitable site for the dam. Meanwhile the Union Waterpower Company of Lewiston were buying up the flogage from all who would sell and work was begun September 1st, 1909. The preparatory work was clearing site, building roads, cutting timber for sawlogs, followed by the erection of temporary buildings and a saw mill; the construction camps consisted of 49 buildings erected by the company. Perhaps it would be interesting to know what each number represented in the list of buildings of Aziscoos Falls.

The industrial village of Aziscoos Falls in the building of the Dam: 1, crusher and mixing plant; 2, steam and pumping plant; 3, cement shed; 4, cement shed; 5, sawmill; 6, engineers' quarters; 7, store; 8, cook camp; 9, bunk houses; 10, bunk houses; 11, bunk houses; 12, Italian Camps; 13, Italian Camps; 14, stable; 15, stable; 16, blacksmith's shop; 17, storehouse; 18, ice house; 19, vegetable cellar; 20, post master's cabin; 21, dynamite house; 22, quarry; 23, stone tramway; 24, cable towers; 25, sand washing plant; 26, bunk house; 27, hay shed; 28, tool house; 29, blacksmith's shop; 30, watchman's house; 31, Gony's house; 32, Boulanger's House; 33, Gorman's house; 34, engineer's office; 35, carpenter's shop; 36, oil house; 37, carpenter's cabin; 38, Lancaster's house; 39, photography station; 40, Coy's house; 41, Watson's; 42, stables; 43, Whitcomb's cottage; 44, blacksmith shop; 45, Hodgson's cottage; 46, Bram's cottage; 47, Emerson's cottage; 48, pool room; 49, Sheldon's house.

There was also a barber shop in some one of the buildings, and a resident doctor in one of the cottages.

The following measurements will show the magnitude of the work. Total length from crest of crest of main dam to crest of crest of spillway, 881 ft., maximum height from crest of main dam to ledge foundation, 78 ft., length of main dam 265 ft., length of spillway 236 ft., height from the surface of water in the river to level of water surface at full lake is 60 ft. The crest of the main dam above full lake level, 7 ft. Top of embankment above full lake level 12 ft. Maximum high water above full lake level, 6 ft., depth of draught from reservoir, 47 ft.

The reservoir basin has a storage capacity of seventeen billion cubic feet. To accomplish this it took a maximum total of 180 horses on the road, ten teams arriving daily with cement during the totting season. In 365 days the teams delivered seven and one-fourth million pounds of cement.

The new lake is in reality the sepulchre of that once lovely stream, "Wild Run" of the Northland, the Magalloway and a sacrifice to the ruthless spirit of commercialism. The sights of interest to the tourist that have kept alive the traditions of the red man and the tragedies of the white man of which there were many, are alike buried beneath its waters.

Major and Mrs. Oramel Stanley of Fort Constitution, N. H., have made his parents, C. E. Stanley and wife, a short visit.

Frank C. Eastman is helping Benson & Knight bay.

Mrs. Sarah Hurd visited her son Herbert and wife last week.

Rev. Mr. Gowell of Poland visited friends here. Mr. Gowell was pastor of the church here some years ago. All are sorry to learn of the death of his wife.

DIRTY DISHWASHING

More than one case of disease comes from the practice of rinsing dirty dishes, soda fountain spoons and tumblers and restaurant dishes in cool water, says the State Department of Health in a news bulletin recently issued.

In the summer time when people buy lemonade and other cooling drinks there is the greatest need for cleanliness in dish washing. Even private homes cannot be too careful in getting the dishes really clean instead of apparently clean. If cleanliness is one of the great guarantees of public health, now is the time for the public to insist on this form of cleanliness.

Chapman, resided on a farm in South Paris several years and now lives in Wakefield, Mass. He was ordained to the Congregational ministry July 28, 1913, at Sharon, Vt. He won the degree of bachelor of arts at Dartmouth College in 1916, graduating magna cum laude, and the degree of bachelor of sacred theology at Andover Theological Seminary in 1917.

She boarded with Mrs. Sawin and a very pleasant time was enjoyed in recalling incidents and acquaintances of that year. She was the daughter of the late Frank Trafton and granddaughter of the late Otis Trafton both of Harrison and who were both well known cattle dealers when cattle were bought and driven to market instead of being taken in cars as they are now.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall visited the school house where she taught a very successful term of school. Isaac Flint and Mr. Sawin are the only families left in the district that were here at that time. Mr. Sawin and Mrs. Randall had not met before since she was a member of their family 24 years ago.

Walter Canwell is the champion hunter of these parts. He killed three quail and a woodchuck one day recently. Mr. Woodchuck had dug a hole and settled himself almost under the corner of the wood shed with the desire it seemed to be neighborly and possibly to have a share in the garden stuff which was near.

Ernest Mills with his sister and her husband and three children have been visiting their cousin, Mrs. E. C. Henley.

We have been favored with several days of good weather and for the benefit of the hay makers, we hope for some more of the same kind.

We heard a great commotion among the birds in the orchard behind our house one day recently and went to find out the cause of it. A small hawk was having a hard time of it. Two king birds were pecking and scolding at him with all the fury of their small bodies and shrill voices. Evidently Mr. Hawk had trespassed on their premises and was getting a good punishment. He soon got enough of it and betook himself to the woods as fast as wings could carry him.

You may soon be asked to contribute to the Salvation Army drive. Give what you can. The Salvation Army "standards" with hot coffee and doughnuts for the doughboys in the front line trenches.

Base Ball

Making Room 27; Stock Room 1

In a closely fought contest that required an extra inning to decide the matter the making room outfit copped the game against the stockmen on the fair grounds Thursday evening. The score was 2 to 1.

Several players in the line-up were missing this time as the newly organized
"first string" from the factory has absorbed a number from each contingent,
and they will not return to their respective clubs. Therefore the makers put on almost a new offering which hammed out
the victory when all was considered lost.

The stockmen purloined the first run
in center, jogged to second when Neddie Burnell was hit by Wing and crossed the home platter on Bancroft's smash to deep right. Several times they came within the money but the scattered hits, but failed to advance a runner beyond third.

Buck's makers couldn't get a bite until the seventh although many rallies looked much like a scouring pebble. They were handed up a luscious peach in the second when Snow walked Ripley and Buck and nobody goes. Bancroft hit into hard luck toward short stop and Ripley got nailed on third. Starbird went at first on a weak bunt to Snow and Payne ditto. The real thing came to them in the seventh when they sneaked across their first run which tied things up. Star-bird's infield scratch hit, Payne's single and Win Allen's scratch filled the bases.

"Kid" Allen, the youngest ball artist in the Cobblers' League, followed his father Win, and waited it out. He drew a pass and forced the run. Wing had a good opportunity to have his picture in the movies by cleaning the bases, but he was easily retired at first by the Snow-Burnell route. This outfit won in the first half of the eighth as McNally, an old timer
from the Bryant Pond Club secured a pass; with second, with Payne's single and Ripley's single scored when Ned Burnell made a wicked heave on the throw in to catch the runner at home.

Seven innings is the regulation twilight schedule, therefore the last was played by moonlight, with everybody guessing where the ball might be.

The veteran Giles Frost officiated, passing through the skirmish without the usual joshing from players and their vicious supporters. He is a member of the Commercial and possibly the shoe makers, the outfit is developing respect for his aristocratic standing.

Kamp Kohut 7; Carrollites 2
The Norway Carrollites, a ball team recently organized at the Carroll, Jellerson
Shoe Co., factory were defeated by Kamp Kohut Saturday afternoon the score being 7 to 2. Aside from the first inning this was a real game filled with stuff pulled out only among speedy players.

Kamp Kohut as usual, has a remarkably fast aggregation. The galaxy of players picked from the fourteen instructors, features gamblers who have during the spring and early summer, represented universities, military schools and colleges
near New York City, and glib edged ball exponents. A life in the open has improved their ability to pass up unadulterated goods, therefore the shoe workers
can't fully organized into a fighting unit
as yet, couldn't successfully land the victor's wreath. They made a big stab and held the Kamp outfit finely after the opening explosion which gave the rusticators 6 scores and a margin against Norway too wide for safety. A skin diamond worked strange things with the ball, and Davidson's "slapping" shutout the ball, and hits to a minimum.

The ball looked good in the air, but could not be punched even if hit on the nose.
From the Kamp Kohut stand point, that slimy sphere was a winning number.

The Kamp team worked a regular razzle in the second, three stolen bases sandwiched in, sent over the pan the big lead which served up a win for Kohut instructors. This awful onslaught was checked, but 11 men had faced the pitcher before the end came. They nailed a home run and the second on 2 hits and a pass, which finished their score making for the day.

During the early chapter several Car-rollites were playing out of their usual positions and evidences were conclusive
they were in a strange garret. Currier's throwing arm gave out during the second inning and, he was removed. Bethel went into the position from left; Bedard
changed from right to left and Banks taken from the bench, was placed as sentry on the stone wall, which fortunately runs through the right field. This arrangement of their forces was good, generalship, and satisfactory results followed as the defense stiffened along the whole front. Bethel worked off several nifty stunts in his familiar locality and Bancroft made a brace of running catches which saved a greater discrepancy in the final tally. One more shift was made in the eighth when Bethel entered the box in exchange with Freddie, who had been pitching himself to pieces, hoping to recover lost ground. "Betty" had a tendency to shoot wide. He passed 2, struck out Wesheer, who has a bad batting reputation, but the "men behind" throttled Bernard and Vigil whom had previously been given complimentary tickets to first, so no damage resulted.

The Carrollites scored their only returns in the eighth in this wise. Bedard found first landing on an infield crack to Bernard at second and the resultant high throw to base. Banks singled into deep center, which was the first safety for Norway. Boulder sacrificed. Furrington did the trick with another well center field single which brought in the two runners. This was performed after a day's record carrying three strike outs

was scored against him. Grouping singles even on the home stretch saved a thick coat of white wash as no advance was pulled in the ninth inning. Both Furrington and Bethel produced scratches earlier in the game, but the near hits only brought disaster as the base runners ahead were forced into put outs.

Gerrish commenced the game as official for Kamp Kohut, but Odell Rich was later added to the staff and both worked along nicely.

The 103 boys who are occupying the grounds this season are genuine rooters and stand by the outfit. They were good sports, willing to applaud any difficult play sent over on them by the rival team. Everybody was used finely and the Norway outfit have the best feeling for Kamp Kohut in the woods on Thompson
Lake's cool shores.

NORWAY MUNICIPAL COURT
Wm. F. Jones, Judge.
Roy Holden appeared before Judge William F. Jones Monday and settled a dispute over a horse, for intoxication. Deputy sheriff Harry O. Stimson gathered him in Saturday evening

Norway Sub-master Goes to Camp Devens Albert C. Parker, sub-master in Norway High school, during the past two years and appointed for another year, has been called in the draft and goes to Camp Devens with the Cumberland county contingent, Friday. He has endeavored to enlist on several occasions with the understanding he could finish the spring term before entering the service. Since schools closed no openings have been found for his line of work.

If he is accepted at Camp Devens, Norway will lose a young man who has won his way into the hearts of students, the teaching staff and officials and townspeople, as few adopted sons have. In the class room, in the Congregational church and Sunday school and in the homes throughout the village his influence for all that is uplifting has been felt and will not be forgotten. His personality, teaching good sportsmanship
made a strong impression in athletics,
which completely changed in a short time the old ideas regarding base ball
and basket ball in the Norway schools.

Mr. Parker has every requirement of a real soldier and a true type of the highest Americanism.

shall from the village. It was a surprise to Mr. Foster and his wife, but a very pleasant one as the children have not been at home for some years together.
Harold Libby drove the boys up in his auto.

David Klain has set aside for the present an offer from Swift & Co. to few weeks since from Lewiston and Bangor. John is 19 and got his start in the Commercial department at Norway High by Lucie E. Jones of the University of esting and profitable. Miss Jones also gave a talk on war bread.

on Gothic street, South Paris, at the age of 81 years. Mrs. Greene had always been very active for one of her years,
until after the death of her sister, Mrs.
Atkins, a few months since, she had an attack of illness from which she regained a degree of health. About ten days since she suffered an attack from which she did not rally.

Mrs. Greene was the daughter of Nathaniel and Ruth Rideout, and was born in New Gloucester, March 17, 1837. She married George F. Greene of North Wat-moved to that place where she lived for some years. Mrs. Greene died the next year.

For some years Mrs. Greene and her sistogether. During the past few months her son, Edward L. Greene and family have lived with her at the home on Gothic street.

Mr. Merrill was born in Paris, August
3, 1854, the son of James and Eliza
(Dunham) Merrill. He was 63 years old when he died. He was married to Mrs.
L. Turner, but about twenty-five years ago came to South Paris with his family, and has since been a resident here.

He married July 10, 1880, Mary W.
Timberlake of Livermore, who died in 1913. To them were born three sons, who are living, and residents of South
Paris, Henry J., Charles E., and Chester
M. Since the death of Mrs. Merrill he has made his home with the youngest son,
Dr. C. M. Merrill. There are also nine grandchildren. He is survived by his brothers, Loren B. Merrill of Paris Hill, Charles H. of Norway, and George W.
of Auburn, and one sister, Mrs. Abbie, wife of Luther H. Maxim, of Grandin,

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my housework."—Mrs. B. B. ZIELINSKA, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound the credit."—Mrs. JOSEPHINE KINBLE, 935 West Race Street, Portland, Ind.

Annual Community Chautauqua

numbering forty-two members to England, thence across the channel to France. They were sent with the brigade to a point near Ypres and here the leader received his first baptism of fire. The boys were not expected to participate actively in the fight, but realizing the serious situation he volunteered for trench warfare and went to the front. His experiences and feelings in that first trip "over the top" into No Man's Land for a trench raid was interestingly told.

After this hard fought, memorable battle at Ypres he was sent to the rear, suffering with shell shock. After recovery the band was sent to Somme, where man power was badly needed. Their instruments were held aside 4000 not in the hands of the musicians assigned to the Quartermaster Department. They went in with little training as stretcher bearers or ammunition carriers, doing splendid service.

Many gave their lives on this mission, even under the supposed protection of the Red Cross flag. The speaker is a living witness to the fact that Germany had no respect for that emblem and shelled all who were giving succor to the wounded.

During his period of service the speaker went over the top four times receiving wounds and contracted illness which won an honorable discharge.

Eugene N. Swett, president of the local association conducted the whirlwind campaign to secure 500 tickets pledged before the Norway and South Paris business men would sign any contract for 1919. The proposition needed only a brief outline and the cards which had been given out during the matinee were collected by the committee appointed. In exactly twenty-five minutes 503 pledges came forth, which gave guarantee for another Community Chautauqua in 1919.

A statement was made that in 1917 the total of 509 course tickets were sold. This year 635 were purchased and 91 Junior tickets sold. The total receipts including adult course tickets and box office returns to Thursday are $1,971.00.

The local committee will receive fifty per cent. of all tickets over 500, the first $50 collected at the gate and fifty per cent. of money above $1,400.00 not including the Junior tickets. This splendid support clears up the deficit from last year, and leaves a substantial fund. The Thursday receipts will undoubtedly boost that account. The contract was signed this Thursday morning by nearly a hundred business men in Norway and South Paris.

Junior Chautauqua The children have been well entertained and have received many excellent lessons during the past week. Miss Morris, the play ground supervisor, assisted by Florence E. Leach of South Paris and Florence A. Harriman of Norway, were after the children, giving particular attention to their recreation hour should be well spent and some good lesson carried home each day. They have or young players at basket ball, prepared a camp fire breakfast consisting of ham and eggs, listened to helpful stories and rehearsed the pageant given at 11 o'clock this Thursday morning. There has been system in the work, and every child who enrolled, will become a better boy or girl during the coming year because the Junior Chautauqua spirit encourages open air exercise and higher thoughts.

Chautauqua Officers The local organization has worked hard this year to make the Community Chautauqua a social and a financial success. A large number of non-official members have given time and moral support to the movement, in fact everybody from the youngest up to their elders have backed strong for this fine institution.

The following officers have been responsible for this year's success and should receive our heartfelt thanks for their splendid work against big odds.
